President's Message

I have several subjects worth covering this month so here goes:

The GMC Motorhome community has an amazingly large cadre of service shops and suppliers that specialize in supporting our classics. Some are a full time business and others are dedicated part time suppliers or specialty repairs shops. Additionally, there is the "Black List" maintained by Roger Black that lists GMC owners across the Country and Canada that are knowledgeable and possess specialty tools or just provide friendship when problems occur on the road. The Black List is available on line through a link on <http://www.bdub.net/GMCLinks.html>, look for The Black List and you may want to print a copy to carry in your coach.

Now the sales pitch: These resources are listed in the GMC Western States Membership Roster. I urge you to use these resources when ever possible. They all provide a valuable service at a worthwhile cost. Your support will enable these specialty shops to find or make the specialty parts that would otherwise disappear and to maintain the skills not available in shops specializing in later model vehicles. The GMC is the largest single marc in FMCA and as we all know, the greatest motorhome ever made.

The next subject is about FMCA. As you all know, membership in FMCA is required as a condition for membership in GMCWS. This is because we are a Chapter, Chartered under FMCA. The FMCA Charter and membership provides two important benefits to us, as a Club. The umbrella liability insurance allows us to hold group rallies at both public and private facilities. The second direct benefit is the medical evacuation and coach driver program for individual members. This is a benefit that some of our members have used. Like most insurance, we hope we never have to use it.

Occasionally there are GMCWS members that drop their FMCA membership and desire to keep their membership in GMCWS. I urge you not to consider this as it weakens both organizations and could cost the lost of our FMCA Chapter status and resulting Club benefits. I decided to cover this because of the $5 increase in FMCA dues this year for individual members, which may temp some to drop the membership.

Finally, the fun subject is about the Spring Rally to be held in Auburn California at the Gold Country RV Park (Fairgrounds). The Fairgrounds is just off I-80, East of Sacramento. Auburn is near the site of 1848 gold discovery in California at Sutter's Mill in Coloma. This is the discovery that led to the '49er gold rush.

In your travels to Auburn, you may want to plan on spending extra time exploring along SR 49, both North and South of Auburn, through the heart of the gold country. We sincerely hope that you can join in the seminars planned by our VP's Lillian Trubert and Steve Ferguson. Of course we've planned to serve some of California's finest wine at our first Social Hour. Monkey Cat, a premier restaurant in Auburn is providing a variety of delicious meals for Breakfast and Dinner. Our cowboy bartenders, Dave Cantrell, Jim Rowe, Hoss Hauge, and Loren Bates are already packing their western attire for the occasion. The Rally Registration and Tentative Schedule of Events is included herein.

Finally, we are looking for a new President. So, if you are interested in the job or know someone who may be, please advise me, or one of the area representatives. Although I'm enjoying the job I just don't want to have all the fun of steering this outstanding Club.

GMC WESTERN STATES TECH CENTER

Ever had that “funny feeling”?

By Steve Ferguson,
Technical Vice President

It's kind of hard to describe. It falls somewhere between a hunch and a nagging suspicion for me. For instance, you're on the way to the Post Office and all of a sudden you can't remember whether or not you closed the garage door. So, you turn around and drive back home to check. Sure enough, you did it while you were operating on auto pilot. This is called “muscle memory”. We are so programmed by things we do repeatedly that we often can't remember if we did them. This is a good thing and not related to CRS or one of the other acronyms we associate with getting older. It's what has kept us out of trouble for a long time and partly why we are getting older.

Here are some more examples of why we need to pay attention to those “funny feelings” or hunches. At a recent GMC Christmas rally I had just shut off the TV and was getting ready to hit the hay for the night. We were in a park we have never stayed in before so I was unfamiliar with the background noises, traffic, etc. “What's that odd noise?” Probably nothing but, I had that nagging feeling and knew I shouldn't ignore it, so I checked. I put my ear against the wall, nothing. I went outside and listened for a sound like a tire losing air...nothing. Then I walked around to the utility side of the coach and sure enough, there was the source. My new WalMart FW hose had split and the utility compartment was gushing water. Easy fix, just turn off the water, but that's not the point. The point is, I listened to my inner “hunch” and checked it out, and saved myself a lot of future grief (and next day embarrassment).

You're getting ready for an outing in the GMC. You're finally packed, have the dog and mom both in the same place at the same time...and you start wondering if you checked the oil after the last trip. Sure you did, you always do, right? But you still have that nagging feeling so you unbuckle, exit the GMC and check the oil. Wow! Down over a quart! You could've sworn you checked it after the last trip. Lucky you! You listened to that inner feeling and acted. Just think of the consequences if you hadn't acted when you did.

1. What's that funny noise?
2. Have I heard it before?
3. It's probably nothing.
4. This GMC is always making funny noises.

Number 3 and 4 are the thoughts that could get you into trouble if you don't follow up on your hunch and check and see just what that funny noise is and where it is coming from.

There's a little reward here for acting on those funny feelings and hunches. It's called “peace of mind”. It's what you get after you've followed up, found a problem, fixed it and then continued onto whatever you started out to do in the first place. Now you can cruise along NOT wondering. Great feeling, isn't it?

It's how we got to be as old as we are...we listened to that inner voice.

Til next time, keep the sticky side down.

Auburn Rally Women's Activities

by Lillian Trubert – First Vice President and Rally Reporter

May 19th is just around the corner and I'm starting to gear up for my first stint as the First Vice President in charge of women's activities. I know and derive great comfort from the fact that I have a lot of knowledgeable and wonderful ladies in GMC Western States who will pitch in and prop me up as needed. Please feel free to pass on ideas for activities, and anyone who volunteers to help me will no doubt receive a big win at the casino of your choice. Do you have an idea for a women's seminar? I want to hear it!

Remember you can always attend the technical seminars, Vendors' Fair, Swap Meet and Open House tours. That "Getting Your Coach Under Control with Steve" or something like that sounds pretty interesting. Anything you'd like to pass on is great for the swap meet. It's always fun to scour all those GMC coaches at the Open House for ideas others have come up with. We have evening get togethers starting with the Social Hour, so try and work in a nap and goof off time. It might be hard to do but, oh, so necessary. Of course, I'm speaking for myself. I also like to relax playing Jokers and Marbles, but other games are open to one and all. Don't be shy.

We'll have plenty of activities for the ladies in Auburn. The artists in our group will have two opportunities for painting with Judy, all supplies will be provided. If you want to give it a try, just show up.

We have a couple of health seminars planned that shouldn't be missed. Dorris will tell us all about "Calcium, Vitamin D and You", and if you've ever been to one of Dorris' seminars, you know you come away feeling you have more of a handle on things concerning good nutrition or the sex life of germs. I assume this time it will be more about vitamins, but she's looking out for us, and we are lucky to have such a knowledgeable resource. Dorris will also give us the latest on "Loving Them Bones." I think it's about Osteoporosis, but it could be about barbecued ribs – germ free ribs or some other pertinent information.

"Movie Time", with popcorn, a good women's flick will be followed by a sharing discussion. We can share something we are thankful for about our husbands, as the movie will show us what some women have to endure. Our video with Florence Littauer called "Silver Boxes" is a must see. She will amuse and intrigue you while filling your heart and mind with positive thoughts, and I'm sure a lively discussion will ensue. We will also have one other chance to swap experiences at a "Getting to Know You" (otherwise a "Gab Fest", this name was originated by the late Marilyn Harvey) session with yours truly. A great time will be had by all, that I can predict, as we relate those pet peeves, funny GMC stories, jokes and anything thing else that pops into our pretty heads.

You will have the special opportunity to have "Facial Time" with Sharon. This lady really knows her stuff, and you may have to fend off admirers (remember those?) on the way back to your coach. Facial masks are all natural and are made specifically for us by Sharon. Please bring your face. The men will provide the admiration.

Monday is bittersweet "Aloha", and I am joining Frank and Freddi in thanking you for attending, if you can. Spring is a time of renewal, and our Spring Rally is a great time to renew your GMC friendships and start new ones. When Marc and I started GMCing, we had no idea what a rich and rewarding experience awaited us. We want you with us!

ADCO cover #22813, Class C, 23'-26' is close to being a custom fit cover for our 26' GMC. The zipper is in the right place for our door, and the cover touches the ground around the coach. It has elastic on the front and rear, with several tie downs on the sides.
